

Xegy

Profile

Xegy is a web-delivered application development and delivery platform that integrates business process, knowledge, and workflow management in order to mobilize workers for rapid execution of tasks. Using Xegy, you can quickly design and deploy customer-specific applications with no impact on the IT infrastructure of the customer.

Situation

Markets, regulations, and competition are changing rapidly creating new opportunities and demands for productivity and compliance.

- Your team needs to be competent on product rollouts, core procedure changes, new team launches, and/or compliance requirements
- Managers need to see progress, bottlenecks, and challenges to success.

Solution

Use Xegy to quickly design and deploy customer specific applications that: integrate procedural road maps, information, and process tracking; provide a lasting repository for ongoing performance support; and capture information for analysis and improvement.

ROI

- Build productivity solutions in weeks and at a fraction of the cost of traditional methods
- Decrease time and effort to demonstrate competency and compliance
- Integrate agility into ongoing practices.

Xegy is the Business-driven Activity Management system that integrates business process, knowledge, and workflow management in order to mobilize workers for rapid execution of tasks, while allowing management to track progress and document compliance. Whether you are launching a new product, responding to regulatory requirements, changing a core process, or expanding your work force, the key to success is getting your workforce to become competent quickly.

Xegy enables you to:

- Create clear actionable paths for people to perform processes effectively
- Incorporate all of the necessary information and resources into each process step
- Capture information or knowledge from users
- Track individual and team performance
- Automate notification to facilitate communication across traditional departmental barriers.

Key Differentiators

Xegy's strength lies with its flexible ASP platform that is easy to implement and populate. Most ASP services are designed for a single purpose with limited customization. Xegy was built to allow customers to run different applications on the same platform so that process, workflow, learning, and content can be integrated specific to a customer's business need. Xegy can also easily link to other systems, such as sales or finance, to create a diverse solution without the need for lengthy integration.

Customers have the ability to design or modify the site navigation and content through an easy to use interface. This allows changes or improvements to be made without the need for technical or programming expertise. Thus, the site is controlled by the business people not the IT department.

The flexibility of design, speed of development, and scalable service allows organizations to efficiently have the enterprise support platforms needed for:

- New hire productivity
- Succession planning
- Compliance
- PMO
- Sales Force Productivity
- Franchise roadmap
- And more.

The results speak for themselves.

Since 1998, our customers have been getting remarkable results.

- 11 million dollars in savings in the first year of implementation
- 90% elimination of paperwork
- 87% increase in locations passing quality audits
- Reduced time to competency of new hires from 18 months to 3 months.
- 30% increase in sales within 3 months.

Why spend months building your business productivity solutions when you can have them in weeks at a fraction of the cost?

With Xegy, you are only limited by your imagination!
